To the Hiring Team,

As I complete my studies in the Department of Informatics and Telecommunications at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, I am eager to take the next step and enter the professional field without delay. I strongly believe that joining the workforce at this stage is the most important step for my growth and development.

Throughout my studies and personal projects—ranging from high-performance C++ systems to full-stack applications—I have developed a deep appreciation for clean code and efficient problem-solving. I view these early career years as the time to build a solid professional foundation, and I am committed to contributing to my team's success while continuously refining my skills.

Completing a demanding degree has provided me with more than just a deep understanding of programming, mathematics and algorithms. I have learned how to manage heavy workloads, meet strict deadlines, and maintain high standards under significant pressure—skills that I recognize are essential in a fast-paced professional working environment.

I am adaptable, hardworking, and highly motivated to expand my knowledge and gain practical experience. I am equally interested in developing strong technical skills—writing clean, efficient code and solving real-world problems—as I am in collaborating with teams, participating in meetings, communicating effectively, and contributing to a positive and productive work environment.

I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to an organization where I can grow, add value, and continue learning every day.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Xenofon Logothetis
